NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE

Norway Women Have Learned The Cause of Many Mysterious Pains and Aches.

Many women have come to know that sex isn't the reason for all backaches, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To live simply, eat sparingly, take better care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help bad kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well-recommended by Norway people. Read this case:

Mrs. Myrtle Payne Hazen St., Norway, says: "A few years ago I was having pains across my back and kidneys. They annoyed me very much and on stooping or lifting, I felt them more. I found Doan's Kidney Pills very good for this trouble. As I used them, the pains gradually lessened and soon I was practically free from the trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills are surely worthy of recommendation."

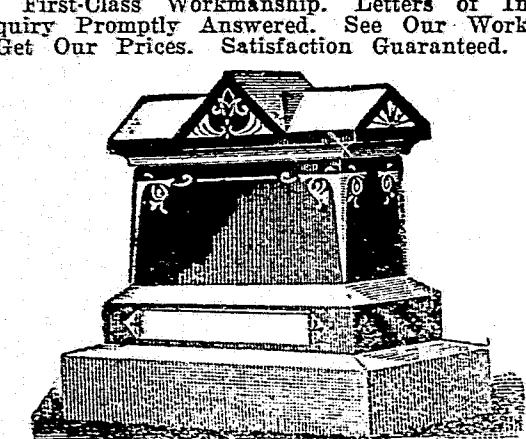

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Payne had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE CURFEW ON THE FARM

The curfew tells the knell of parting day. The loving hearts slowly stir for the day. The plowman homeward rides, and on the way He glances back at his auto horn at me. Now fades the glimmering landscape on the sight. And the air a solemn stillness holds. Save where the phonograph imparts delight. That drowns the drowsy tinkling in the night. Beneath that rugged elm, that yew tree's shade, Electric lights begin to brightly glow; The farmer figures up what he has made; His glad wife makes the piano lo.

WEST PARIS

The local Red Cross has recently received $5.00 from the Knights of Pythias of Bryant's Pond. About one hundred pairs of stockings are nearly ready to send with many other things which have been made. Thirty-two women in this section are knitting socks. In the women realize that somewhere in France there is already a small army of American soldier doing duty in the trenches or otherwise, and soon there will be more and then more and much, very much, will be needed for the coming winter to make them comfortable. If work is needed, work that every unselfish woman can do to make and furnish the things for this great need. Therefore, an appeal is made to every woman, man and child in the homes today to ever keep in mind the terrible strife broad in the world and sacrifice of their time and pleasure to help our boys who have so willingly left all and given their lives if need be, help bring about right against might. RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism is a life-long enemy.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

ALBANY

Jennie Bean, who has been visiting in Greene and Auburn for the last two weeks, returned home Saturday.

Nina Bean, who has been attending the summer school of Sunday School Methods at East Northfield, Mass., returned home on Saturday.

Raymond Cummings who came down from Dorset, Vt., about two months ago and took back his auto with him, sold it to the Saunders Bros. of Dorset, Vt., formerly of North Waterford for whom Leslie and Raymond are working.

Leslie was sick for about 4 months with a fever after returning to Dorset from his brother's, Guy D. Cummings' funeral. He has just got able to begin work. The first time Raymond came down he hired Archie Bass and took him back with him.

This time he has hired Elmer Keniston, son of Asa Keniston, to go back with him. There are six Albany boys and men the Saunders Bros. have got to work for them up to Dorset. They like the crew from this way. Raymond says he likes the state of Maine, but he likes better in Vermont, so he intends to work there. The Saunders Brothers have two or three mills in Vermont. Raymond runs one of the big auto trucks hauling lumber from one mill to the other and to the station.

Mrs. Mattie Rugg's family and Asa Keniston's family are sick with the measles. Mrs. Clifton McAllister, Herman Cummings and some others are also ill.

A. G. Bean, Arthur Andrews and H. I. Bean have got through haying. The majority of the farmers are not half through.

It is getting very dry and many of the wells are getting low. They had a heavy thunder shower and hail storm at North Albany one day last week. It did quite a lot of damage to the beans and other crops. The lightning struck W. J. Becker's house, but did not do very much damage. Mr. Becker was very unfortunate last week. His nice young horse that he bought of Mrs. Abbott of North Norway choked to death.

Mrs. Robert York, who has been visiting friends in Norway for the last two weeks, returned home Sunday, Aug. 5. Mrs. York's son-in-law, Mr. Gregg and wife brought her up in his new auto.

William Grover and Harry McNally, who have been at work down in Bisbee town, haying for Lincoln Holmes, have finished and are now haying on the Cole farm this week.

Horace Davis stopped at Harry McNally's Saturday night, July 28. He works in the spool mill at Bryant's Pond. Thursday night it was so hot the ladies thought they would not have any hot beans or hot coffee, so they set their tables of lemons on the lawn between the church and the grange hall. Just about the time they began to eat there came up a shower, so they hustled into the church as quickly as possible. They had plenty of good cool lemonade instead of coffee, which went to the right spot.

Edna Mayley of Hyde Park, Mass., is visiting friends at Hunt's Corner.

Albany Line
Harry McNally and Will Grover are cutting Lincoln Holmes' grass on shares.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson and Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Green of South Waterford, called at E. K. Shedd's, Sunday. They were on their way to Isaac Wardwell's when a tire blew out. Robert Stearns came along and carried them to Mr. Wardwell's where they took dinner. Their aunt, Mrs. Stearns of Bethel, who has been visiting relatives here, returned home with them for a visit.

Mr. Cummings carried the ladies home. Mr. Johnson repaired the damage to his auto.

Grant Abbott and a party from North Norway called at E. K. Shedd's Sunday. They were out for a ride. They also called on Fred Scribner.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles York, Walter Lord, wife and children went to the camp in Grafton Notch Saturday for a few days' outing. They are expected to return Monday.

Wallace Jones recently lost a good horse.

A number from this way went to the show at North Waterford, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Newell Andrews and two children were out riding Sunday. They have a fine boy five weeks old. As yet it is unnamed.

Irving Becker recently lost a valuable colt. It got its head into a hole in the crib and choked to death.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Eastman and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lord went on a three days' trip last week, stopping at the camp in the notch the first night where Paris street. She will remain during this time. Anyone who has been in the mountains in a storm knows something of their violence. While at Upton Hill there was a great wind that twisted tree trunks off, but for all of those frightful scenes, they enjoyed themselves hugely.

Mr. Eastman bought a beautiful colt and they bought thirteen head of stock. They visited the Big Dam at Magalloway. Altogether they had a very enjoyable trip as well as a profitable one.

Will Fisk finished haying Thursday, and Cecil Kimball has finished work for him.

Ernest Cross of Portland was through here buying poultry last week. He stopped over night with his aunt, Mrs. Jas. Kimball. He found poultry a scarce article in this vicinity.

Pearl Weymouth is doing Walter Lord's barn chores in his absence.

Frances McAllister visited her friend, Verna Kimball, Saturday and Sunday. Jennie McAllister visited her brother, Ernest Brown, Sunday.

George Kimball and son Byron were through here Friday, buying stock. Samuel Lebrooke housed some stock for them Friday night.

PORTER CENTER

Orrin Black had a cow killed by lightning Thursday afternoon.

Sadie Prescott visited her grandparents at Brownfield, Sunday.

C. A. Roberts and wife attended the Advent campmeeting at West Baldwin, Sunday.

Rev. Wm. Cotton of Waterboro, took dinner with L. E. Norton and family, Saturday.

Help is very scarce in this place. There is none to hire in haying.

The farmers are busy getting their hay, which there is an abundant crop of and of the best quality.

OUR OLD ENEMY

High-cost-of-living, has increased shoe prices to the breaking point.

One cause is the increase in the cost of raw materials, the increase in ocean freight, the hides that have been sunk in ships, the scarcity due to the impossibility of getting needed leathers from Germany and Russia. These are conditions that we cannot change. Don't talk about the high cost—Do something. But another cause is that people are not buying shoes wisely. That we can and should correct, with your help. Buy practical shoes for long wear. Men should buy heavy-sole shoes, black shoes in preference to tan, for long, hard wear. A fiber sole will wear much longer than leather. Our Douglas and Regal shoes will give longer and better wear than any shoes we know of.

Her children played in her doll house up attic which she herself played in in childhood. A letter from her says: "We got home all O. K. and had a very nice trip. We stopped in Brattleboro about three hours and had a fine time there." Her husband with a chauffeur, came for her towards night and they got into Readsboro at 5:30 p. m. the next day.

DELIVER US FROM HATRED

There is one vital point upon which we as citizens must guard ourselves in the great contest before us, and that is that there grow not up in our hearts a spirit of hatred toward those in our midst with foreign blood in their veins.

We have said that we are not to prosecute a war of revenge, but a contest for right and justice. This sentiment comes easy enough at this time. The danger will come later, when the real rock of war is felt and grim death fans us with his sable wings as he takes a son from this home and a husband or brother from that one.

Americans cannot afford to harbor hatred, and especially can they not afford animosity toward our citizens of foreign descent. If the citizen of Teutonic blood is loyal to our country, though he grieve at the necessity for war with his fatherland, his burden is heavy enough without the added knowledge or suspicion that he is viewed with antagonism and distrust.

There are some who are unquestionably traitors to the land of their adoption, but they will soon come to their just end. Time will efface them. But their acts should not prejudice in our minds those who are loyal and who are staunchly supporting the government, even though it be with hearts saddened by regrets.

If Americans are even approximately true to their ideals they will not permit the loyal to suffer for the acts of the disloyal. To do so would be to defeat the very aims in view in the struggle before us.

We now are impelled by one consuming desire, the desire of humanity in its broadest sense, and the greatest freedom to which we can attain is freedom of heart from rancor and bitterness.

No great cause was ever won without martyrdom. Some must suffer greatly, all must suffer some. It is nature's way in which she works out human redemption. But if bitterness and hatred is permitted to creep into the martyrdom and suffering, their uplifting and purifying influence is nullified.

Let us pray to be delivered from all bitterness, that when the contest is ended even our foes may be brought to the light as we see it.

THE DREAD OF THE DRAFT

Now that the registration of men liable to military service has been placed, every man can begin to tell whether he has within himself the makings of a soldier. Some men who never saw themselves in that light will be surprised to see how calmly they take this overshadowing possibility.

A case of suicide of a man who feared being drafted was reported the other day, but such instances will be infinitesimal in number. The fear of things is worse than the reality. The atmosphere of soldier camps has always been a cheerful one.

The people who will suffer will be those who are left at home. Those who will go will be cheered by music, by the spirit of the army, the contagion of enthusiasm. There will be warm comradeship and hearty friendships in every life. The boys will look forward not without anticipation to seeing strange lands and foreign cities and alien people. They would not choose to travel in that way, but many men who never expected to go broad will welcome this chance to see the world.

In ancient times the young men started off for the wars in the same jolly spirit in which the boys of today start for college. In this more fearful and introspective age we have lost this careless audacity. We are upset if we can't avoid risks and if our loved ones must take them. But all reports from Europe are that the men part for the battle field with no show of feeling and in good spirits, and our boys will do the same.

The drafted men will be the heroes of their home towns and camp surroundings. Many an obscure youth who never before could get recognition will now find himself suddenly elevated on a pedestal of local fame. It will develop initiative and manliness, and all who return safely, as the vast majority will, are sure to be stronger men for the experience.—Sanford Tribune.

HORSE MEAT

Except for the regard most people have for the horse, there is really no reason why his flesh should not be utilized, by those who eat meat, for human food, any more than the flesh of other animals. Indeed the provisions of the Sanitary Code of New York City now legalize its sale for that purpose. It must never be forgotten, however, that the value of a health horse is so great that, unless he is killed because of some accident which has rendered him useless, he would practically never be destroyed for food. The vast majority of the horses whose flesh is, or would be put on sale, would be old and worn out and diseased animals. In New York a man dealing in horseflesh was discovered leading a glandering horse to a slaughtering establishment. We doubt if many Americans will ever become eaters of horseflesh, first, because the idea is so foreign a one to them, and, second, because they know that few such animals in good health would ever be sacrificed for food. On the other hand multitudes are learning that the less meat they eat the better they feel, and for conscientious reasons an increasing number are becoming vegetarians.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Bear Mountain Grange met in regular session, Saturday evening, August 4th, with worthy Master Harold S. Pike in the chair. The degrees of Labor and Culture were conferred upon a class of new members. The grange hall is to be free for the use of the Canning School, which meets here on August 20th. The members having the program in charge not being able to be present, Bro. and Sister Wilson Morse, who were to have had the last meeting, helped out with some of their ideas not used then. Music, "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Question Box was passed and each member was presented a slip of paper upon which to write a question. There was a reading by Sister Helen Morse. Questions were distributed, each member drawing one which they must answer in turn as well as possible, or in case they wished, they might call on some one better qualified to answer. This proved interesting, bringing out varied topics and ideas with some discussions. The next regular meeting will be on August 18th, program in charge of Harold and Lillian Kimball.

Vaughn of Lewiston is a guest at Edw. Cox's. Mrs. Arsene Blaquiere and children, Pauline and Frances, of Norway, are visiting relatives in Sumner. Columbia Davenport, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Geo. Noyes, has returned home. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Disbee of East Winthrop were over Sunday guests at Henry Davenport's. Mr. and Mrs. Biebee are visiting relatives and friends in Sumner, also in Buckfield.

OSTEOPATHIC FOUNDER 89 YEARS OLD

Dr. Andrew Taylor Still, the founder of Osteopathy, was eighty-nine years old Monday. The American Osteopathic Association, which convenes at Columbus, Ohio, dedicated the day to appropriate ceremonies in his honor. When Dr. Still first proclaimed his theories in the seventies, they were received with little credence. At that time the bodily organs were often caused by vertebrae being slightly displaced, causing pressure upon the spinal nerves causing the function of the vertebrae to be affected. The adjustment of the vertebrae would relieve the nerve interference and result in recovery of the diseased organs, he was ridiculed. Today, his theories have received a general acceptance and his system of practice is accorded legal recognition by the various states. He is recognized as being one of humanity's greatest benefactors.

FACTS ABOUT MEAT

It has been charged that the American woman has the "ribs" and "loin" habit, that she utilizes these two cuts mainly because they require no skill in preparation, but are good any way they are cooked. The plainer cuts of meat are cheap because there is so little demand for them. True, they require much more effort in preparation, yet, when skillfully manipulated, they are often more wholesome than the ribs and loins. Two main objections are there to the plain cuts—toughness and lack of flavor. Both faults are remedied by knowing how to handle them. Pounding and chopping the tough cuts help to break the muscle fibres, and prolonged cooking softens the connective tissue, rendering the meat tender. Flavor is imparted by skillful seasoning, the highest art of the cook.

Round steak is one of the most economical and nutritious parts of the beef carcass. It has little bone or fat and is all good red meat. An excellent way to prepare a round steak is as follows:—Lay the steak on a board covered with flour, pound all the flour possibly on to the steak with the edge of a thick plate, season it well with salt and black pepper and just a small bit of onion. Now heat a small amount of grease in the skillet, put the steak, covered with flour, and sear it. Next add enough hot water to cover it thoroughly, almost filling the skillet, cover tightly and allow it to simmer with a slow fire for some time. The longer it is cooked the better. When it is tender it is as tender as a chicken, and nice thick gravy is already made.

When the meat is too tough to succumb to the mildest treatments it may be made tender by soaking in vinegar and water. The "sauer fleisch" of the Germans is prepared in this manner and is very palatable. Vinegar has the power of dissolving the connecting tissues of the meat, hence its efficacy in making the flesh tender.

The best flavors of meat are the nitrogenous substances or extractives contained in the meat itself, so to prevent the escape of these extractives in cooking becomes a consideration of great importance. The most effective preventive is to cook the surface of the meat suddenly so as to form a kind of outer crust, which retains the juices. Searing the surface of the meat quickly by heating in fat is a good way, or equally effective is the process of plunging suddenly in boiling water. After the surface is thus heated to form a kind of outer coating the meat may be cooked as leisurely as desired. In making soups or cooking a manner wherein it is desired that the juices should escape, exactly the opposite process should be pursued. The meat should be placed in cold water and allowed to come to a boil slowly. This keeps the pores open and allows all the extractives to come out.

Here is a good recipe for boiled beef: Put the trimmings and suet of the beef into a large kettle and try out the fat. Remove the cracklings or scraps and into the hot fat put the meat and turn quickly until it is seared on all sides. Cover completely with boiling water and boil rapidly for five minutes; then turn down the gas or remove the kettle from the fire and allow it to cook or simmer for fifteen minutes to each pound of meat. One hour before the meat is done add one tablespoon of salt and one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper. When done garnish with watercress or boiled cabbage or vegetables.

The liquor in which the meat was boiled can be saved for soup or made into brown sauce to serve with it. Left-over boiled beef may be served cold, cut in thin slices or made into croquettes or into meat and potato roll or into various warmed over dishes.

Here are some facts worth knowing: Meats, except pork products, are valued mainly for their protein contents, and fat contains no protein. Therefore, meats containing an excess of fat are expensive. The best beef is fine grained. The portion exposed to the air should be light red, and as a slice is cut it should show a slightly purple or darker tinge. The lean should be firm.

The housewife should learn to differentiate between the ribs of beef. Each rib is of different value and bears special relation to the different methods of preparation. The thirteen pairs of ribs in a steer are numbered from 1 to 13, beginning at the neck. The first six ribs are considered the choicest for roasting. The housewife should never buy less than a two rib roast, for if she does the meat does not cook well and is wasteful. One rib can scarcely be called a roast. It is more of a steak. The larger the roast up to certain limits the more juicy and economical it is. Meat from full grown animals is healthier and more economical than that from immature animals. Veal is not only expensive, but very deficient in wholesomeness and nutriment. Likewise lamb is not so economical and healthful as mutton.

A POUND OF HONEY

When you eat a spoonful of honey, you have no idea as to the amount of work and travel necessary to produce it. To make a pound of clover honey, bees must take the nectar from sixty-two thousand clover blossoms; and to do this requires two million seven hundred and fifty thousand visits to the blossoms by the bees. In other words, in order to collect enough nectar to make one pound of honey, a bee must go from hive to flower and back again two million seven hundred and fifty thousand times. Then, when you think how far these bees sometimes fly in search of these clover fields, often one or two miles distant from the hive, you will begin to get a small idea of the number of miles one of the industrious little creatures must travel in order that you may have a pound of honey.—Presbyterian.

Typhoid Fever is Contagious

Typhoid fever is found only in man. It is caused by a short rod-shaped microscopic vegetable, which enters the body through the mouth and leaves it in human discharges to enter another human mouth to which it is carried by fingers, flies, fluids and food. It is essentially a disease of young adult life. Older people are less apt to have it probably because they have suffered from an attack of the disease in their youth.

Typhoid fever is known by various names, "slow fever", "low fever", but whatever name it is called by it kills about 8 per cent. of those whom it attacks. A certain percentage of those who recover become carriers, that is, persons who though well excrete the organisms of the disease in their discharges. Carriers are largely responsible for the perpetuation of typhoid fever, but the installation of proper sewer systems, which not only take away noxious wastes but also do not deposit them in some one else's water supply, the abolition of flies, cockroaches, and other filth insects, the maintenance of a pure food supply, and the intelligent care of the typhoid patient, these are the measures which will rid us from this disease. Until very recently typhoid has been the scourge of armies but now the anti-typhoid inoculation has reduced this danger to a minimum.

BUMPER CROPS

The whole country is making a determined effort to increase the crop yield this summer. There is a waiting market for every pound of it, and this will add millions to the incomes of the farmers.

Factories will be working day and night to turn out the enormous supplies required by our own government and our allies. Millions and millions again will go into the pockets of the people.

Some of this money will be banked, but MUCH OF IT WILL BE SPENT. It will be a fight between the local dealer, the city merchant and the mail order man to see WHO GETS IT.

What are YOU doing, Mr. Local Merchant, toward getting this immense volume of business? Are you telling the people of the articles you have to sell, and of the advantages of buying at home? Or are you going to let the city merchant and the mail order man do the advertising AND GET MOST OF THE BUSINESS? It is squarely up to you! This is a local newspaper.

HARKEN BACK ON THE PAST

Twenty-four Years Ago This Week City water is being put in the grange block.

The American Tyler, an able Masonic weekly published at Detroit, Mich., in its issue of Aug. 5th, gives an excellent likeness of Howard D. Smith, Past Junior Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge of F. and A. M. of Maine, accompanied by a short biographical sketch well describing him as a modest, unassuming man, cashier of the Norway National Bank, recording officer of the three Masonic bodies in Norway and an influential Mason in his own state and a widely known Masonic authority, deserving of the unsought honors he has received.

The little Hosmer twins, Bonnie and Henry, look so much alike they can't tell themselves apart. One of them rushed in the other day and said to his mother, "Where's Henry?" "Why, you are Henry," replied his mother. "I mean the other one," said he.

There was recently placed in the Norway Masonic Library a complete file of the reports of Proceedings of the Maine Council of Deliberation, 32 A. A. S. R. This is of great value to the student of Masonic history, and that Norway Masons are proud to find themselves in possession of it is easily believed when it is told that only two or three other copies are in existence, not even the library of the Grand Masonic Bodies in Portland containing one of the files. Besides this the library has on its shelves many works of Masonic interest and value not easily gotten, as well as some things that will be of much value hereafter. The volumes are increasing so rapidly in number that additional book cases must soon be procured.

NORTH WATERFORD.

Bisbee's mill in Bisbee town was burned to the ground with all its contents Friday, Aug. 3rd. While the mill crew were at dinner the alarm came. In fifteen minutes the mill was in ashes it is said. Mr. Durgin was away and knew nothing of it until he was returning to his work and came to the little hill above the bridge a few rods above the mill when he discovered his loss.

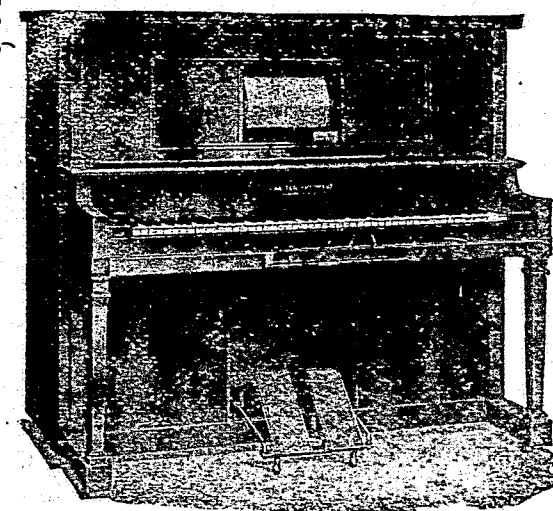

There was a high wind at the time and it was thought the nearby dwellings of Guy Morse and Samuel Lebroke would go too. A car load of box boards, beside other valuable lumber, two or three hundred dollars worth of dovetails and about four hundred dollars in boards were burned.

It is a great loss to Mr. Durgin as he is a young man just starting in life. Besides it threw a number of men out of their summer's work as there was a lot of work to do on a lot of lumber of all kinds.

It is not known the exact amount of damage done to the machinery at present. A large crowd helped to extinguish the flames. Men, women and children came by auto loads. The fire alarm was rung first by Mrs. S. Y. Lebroke and no response was received. Everyone seemed to be busy with their dinner. Finally individual rings were given that brought nearly the entire community.

Mr. Durgin is a very enterprising young man and his business has been a great help to the place. It is hoped he will be able to rebuild. The mill was built near Crooked River and the wind was blowing that way. It was the only chance that saved the little settlement, otherwise it would have been in ashes in a short time.

WHY A PLAYER?

How many times do people say that they'd like to have "life to live over again?" Sort of a foolish wish. What's past is gone and regretting isn't going to bring it back not one inch or one second nearer.

What are the things YOU would like to bring back? Are you sorry you didn't have a musical education? Many people have been so busy doing things, they couldn't exercise their talents much. They found other work to do—more pressing work.

The Playerpiano is for people of that kind—for people who DIDN'T HAVE THE CHANCE—or who wouldn't take it. But—the Playerpiano fills in that gap of things you've wished for. It supplies music to you—BY YOUR OWN EFFORTS—that's maybe better than you would have learned it even if you'd studied and practised.

And it gives you that satisfaction of having a piano in your home. It makes it LIKE OTHER HOMES. It's a lot better than looking into the fire, and wondering WHY you hadn't improved your opportunities a good deal. It's better than a home SILENT for lack of music. It seems as though you'd let more LIGHT into your home and captured it, to feed it out just as your desires tell you to. The PLAYERPIANO is the bridge that connects today with what MIGHT HAVE BEEN in the long ago!

Corrections and changes: Bulls over two years old are prohibited free range of pastures by statute enactment. They sometimes interfere with field and pasture sports of summer guests and blueberry pickers.

Bass must be nine inches long and not eight as recently stated. Arthur Dinsmore is the authority. Acts and Joint Resolves of 1917—my constant guide and traveling companion, book of all knowledge, is silent, as far as I can see, on this important matter. Hope none of my readers have been fined for taking eight inch bass. I have escaped as no bass have been taken not even with the Jim True bug which cost 50 cents and was guaranteed by Tony Young as a sure thing.

"Yes, I've kept a careful pig account since Jan. 1, 1916 and April 1st, 1917—15 months—I took account of stock and find I have made $71.00."

This is what Joe Livingston told me the other morning when he called to shake hands.

"I charged up everything that was fed to 'em except the dish water, but nothing for time and care. Had from 8 to 10 all the time and sold them for 10 to 14 cents per pound, live weight. Am aware it is not only a big profit, but it's something and it's on the right side of the sheet and they worked over the mature which is worth something."

"I've got 7 acres of field corn growing and you should see it. It's looking fine for this season. It will ripen in 90 days from planting; 8 rows and tipped clean out to the end. I sold over $70.00 worth for seed last spring and could have sold more if I had had it."

Mr. Livingston is one of the successful farm-lumber operators in this vicinity.

At one time I seriously contemplated clearing out the accumulation of clutter that has nearly driven me from the barn, but I have now got over it. Woe to the person who lays finger on anything or suggests improvements!

Barn and clutter is just right, come in and see. Every spider-web is a work of art and the black-eyed creeping monsters are pets of mine and shall not be disturbed; the buzzing of wasps and the hum of flies is soothing music to my ears. I prefer the grind of Norway's cement mixer and the clatter of hoofs on that permanent street.

Glad to be here and am happy in my mixed and confused surroundings. Don't sweep the floor—let it alone—cigar ashes are sanitary and litter necessary.

I'm in High Art and Literature! Did you ever inspect the work shops of Talbot and Rosemary Mundy, Miss Abby, Vivian Akers, Hugh Pendexter, Mrs. Mary L. Houghton and other celebrities? If not, don't say a word until you have looked about.

Lon Nevers, at one time, was a striking example of an artistic temperament in allowing merchandise to crowd him into the street; the late Judge H. C. Davis was another, as was John Plummer, both these gentlemen lost their desks in the buildings they occupied and used a lap-board when making court decrees and writing.

Oh! There are others who are littered and literary just as I am. Come in and judge for yourself. No gate money taken and the show is good!

I wouldn't have things picked up and orderly like Henry Foster, Gene Swett and Frank Noyes. I'd throw a fit and grow pale in the ribs were I compelled to work on their polished desks. I prefer the business surroundings and uncertainties offered customers of the Norway National Bank—when you have been able to endorse a check or count a pile of money without upsetting the equilibrium of the bank you have accomplished a praiseworthy feat and naturally feel proud.

I'm shocked at the orderly conveniences, polished surfaces and rosy quarters of the Paris Trust Co. and feel much out of place when doing business there. I confess that in such places I'm not used to pens that willingly write or ink that will flow or sponge-cups containing water and long ago concluded such things were unnecessary for dividends and success.

I strenuously oppose their introduction in financial institutions and up to now have been reasonably successful in keeping them out of Norway.

Have figured up and find that a Hudson Super-Six, with all known gas saving chicken fixings has used 231 gallons of gas in going 2,400.7 miles, hence 10.33 miles to the gallon.

Talbot Mundy claims to get much more so does Frank Rogge.

I'm thinking of discharging Walter and hiring one of them to run my car.

A sweet-scented, yellow edged, blue printed epistle mailed in Brooklyn, N. Y. to Mrs. Fred Sanborn reaches me and needs attention. Were it not from the fact that Alice Parker Hutchins' name was attached, I'd drop it in the waste basket for pigs' bedding, but the boy who passed for a husband was rather a decent sort of a fellow years ago when he came from Fryeburg to Norway to do chores for John A. Woodman in the Beals Hotel. He became storekeeper for B. E. Spinnery & Co. and the United Shoe Machinery people got their eye on him and took him over to run their business.

This is my only excuse for wasting time and space on suffragette propaganda for Oxford county women who have always been in the saddle and have raised babies, soldiers and statesmen and have intelligently bossed the voting end of their household since the state of Maine was set apart from Massachusetts.

Please rest assured these women will rate their husbands, brothers and sons next September in the manner they want them to vote without any instructions from the Norway Advertiser or Mary Chapman Nation-Catt, or Alice Parker Hutchins of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Messrs. R. H. Cassen and H. D. Ellingwood of the Eastern Illustrating, Embellishing and Publishing Co. of Belfast, Maine, were recent wash-day dinner guests. No potatoes were served as the balance of the stock of forty is being held in reserve for the expected visit of people like Judge Towne of Franklin; Farmer McLain of Plymouth, Dr. H. L. Bartlett of Norway and others of social prominence.

The Down East continental snap-shotted scenes of beauty about the Big Barn Doors and says they caught me "at work" and if this is so, proofs are to be submitted.

If they come out well and I should look handsome, I'll send one picture free of expense to every applicant so long as their plane can supply the demand.

Put order in early and be sure of getting one. Address, Meredith Center, N. H.

Four cows graze in a pasture above our house. There are three owners living close together in the village but are unable to agree on the time of going and coming hence, it takes three people to drive the cows to and from the pasture daily.

Mr. A must have his cow in the pasture at 6 o'clock A. M., Mr. B at 6:30 and Mr. C 15 minutes later and they are got up at night on about the same schedule. The cows want to leave the pasture together and it is difficult to get them out at night and occasionally the lone cow breaks the bars and gains the street unattended and goes home on her own account.

The next morning the early man with his cow must replace the bars which the other man's cow broke the night before and this has led to ill feelings and the cow drivers barely nod to each other when they meet in the street. The chasm is widening and over acts of violence may occur at any time.

I've suggested the putting in of a horse-gap arrangement similar to what is used by lumbermen, also a conference in which concession will be made and peace be restored, but up to now it is without avail.

Last night I noticed that Mr. A did not recognize Mr. B when passing opposite our house and the former was armed with a big stick.

I wait results with interest. I'm in for peace on reasonable terms.

Charlie Vaughan of the Democrat says, "Don't kill the bluish green beetle, nearly the size of a June bug, that you find on your trees and shrubs. He is the fellow that destroys the gypsy moth and is on the job from dawn till dark. This is his busy season and he is doing a world of good."

Maybe this is the fellow that sprouted on the pines near where I'm writing. They have disappeared and the trees remain unharmed. I had issued an order that no green beetles be killed and as soon as counter-signed by Mother Hotie at the Center, it will go into effect.

If folks would leave my belongings alone, I'd be happy. I wanted a pipe and confidently knew where I left it, but from force of habit I ransacked about and up-ended works of art and then I showed places in the house and then it dawned upon me that the missing article was in a pocket of my coat and where that coat was, was not just clear to me. Excessively warm, they had not been in service for some days.

I struck out on a tour of exploration, examining reasonable resting places for such articles in the barn, the carpenter's shop, shed and carriage house. The Back Pasture bars were visited as well as the entrance to the Lower Field and a stump in the blueberry patch and I wandered round with serious intent and wondered if the pigs had not devoured my coat or coats.

I made no outcry, but kept traveling and searching until one of the girls asked what was the matter and I told her I'd lost my pipe and went into the particulars of case and search. She said, "I found it on the floor of the pipe in the pocket of one of your coats."

"But where is the coat," I asked. "In the closet where it should be," was the reply. "I found one coat on a wall out in the pasture and another on a stake down in the Lower Field and brought them in some days ago and hung them up in the clothes-press."

If the females who infest the house and farm would let my belongings alone, I'd be happy. I knew where the pipe was all the time; it was in a coat pocket where I had left it and I could have found the coat had it not been meddled with. I'm much abused!

Eat and drink and be on the level—with the pigs. That is what I'm doing.

Why do farm animals refuse to eat pea-pods? I give it up. Ask the county agent he ought to know.

"Jack" is just as good as any dog—can eat, bite, bark and jump and annoy everybody. What more is needed?

Screen doors and windows in Fryeburg schoolhouse. Just think of it! That is a lap in advance of the Crockett Ridge outfit.

Lightning has chased Herm Kimball all his life. He barely escaped last week when it came so near "he didn't see the thunder."

In coming up here or over here I rode 41.1 miles before crossing a railroad track. The route was by the way of North Lovell and Fryeburg.

"Pine Lodge 1786" in bold letters on a house in Fryeburg Center. Some age and enterprise anyhow. Everything looks prosperous about the building.

Work well planned is half done and I sit on the wall and wonder how my potato skins can thrive and grow fat on arsenate of lead. This they seemingly are doing.

There is pleasing and harmless gossip as well as malicious and troublesome. The Advertiser attempts to deal exclusively and gets pinched.

Bob Seavey and Mell Sampson have torn the "Made in Prussia" labels out of their foreign made plush hats and are offering them for sale as the products of the Goodalls of Sanford, Me. Price not stated.

"I ran into a German," remarked the hired man as he invaded my quarters with a scythe in his hand. "Well, what of it and what was it?" I inquired. "A big nest of right mad yellow hornets," was the reply.

No longer have I free range of the plantation. Recently I dug up the gladiolus bulbs, thinking it was twitch-grass. When now I'm seen crossing the street with a hoe, a female guard is placed over the flower bed lest I break loose and do damage.

Now Is the Best Time to Buy a Hudson Super - Six

Today's Prices are Based on Last Year's Material Costs. Present Markets Have Already Forced 51 Makers to Add $100 to $700 to Their Prices

Former $1200 and $1400 cars now cost about as much as a Hudson Super-Six.

No changes warrant such an increase. They are practically the same as the cars which recently sold at $200 to $300 less than the Hudson Super-Six.

Cars in the $2000 class and up have increased from $350 to $700. That removes them further from the Hudson Super-Six price.

Increased cost of material is responsible for the higher prices.

Hudson prices have not increased this year. Our materials were contracted for months ago. When present supplies are exhausted then Hudsons, too must cost more. Until then Hudson, because of its value, is the lowest priced car on the market.

Here is an indication of how prices have been affected. Consider just one item.

The principal material in a fine automobile is steel. All steel is made from iron.

For 25 years before the Great War the average price of iron was a few cents over $16 a ton. In December last it was $30 a ton. It now is $54 a ton.

Makers who bought materials this year must get more for their cars than for those built of materials bought last year.

Good Fortune For Hudson Buyers

Even when other cars sold at $200 to $300 less, Super-Six sales exceeded those of any two makes in the $1200 to $1400 class. Now that there is no such difference in price you can realize how much greater will be the demand for Hudsons. The present supply won't last long. Then Hudson, too, must cost more.

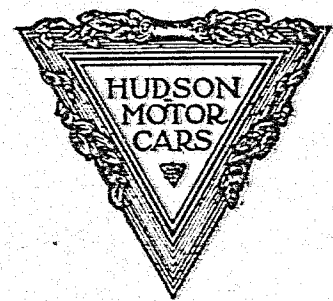

There can be no preference now that former cheaper cars cost as much as the Super-Six.

Super-Six endurance makes it the preferred among fine cars. In every revealing test it has proved endurance unequalled by any other car.

All Due to the Super-Six Motor

Hudson leadership is due to the Super-Six motor. No other motor is like it. It minimizes vibration. That increases power and lengthens motor life. Vibration is the most destructive force in a motor. All Hudson tests show how by minimizing vibration endurance is obtained. The Super-Six is the most powerful automobile motor of its size known.
